How to add a printer using Mac OS 10.4 (Tiger)

Open System Preferences from the Dock or from the Apple icon in the upper left corner of the menu bar. This window will open:

Click on the Print & Fax icon from the Hardware section and the Print & Fax window will open. To add a printer click on the “+” icon on the right-hand side.

The Printer Browser window will open; Click on the IP printer icon and use the Printer Browser window to add a printer.
Complete these fields as follows for each corresponding printer:

Leonardo (room 411)
Protocol: HP Jetdirect – Socket (this remains the same for all printers at KCAD).
Address: Leonardo.kcad.edu
Name: Leonardo
Location: this field can be left blank or you can enter the room number.
Print Using: Click on the drop down menu and scroll down until you reach Xerox. Click on Xerox and highlight Xerox DocuColor 242-252-260 (this driver must be selected manually; the Mac will not auto-select the appropriate driver). Click the add button.

Echo (room 403)
Protocol: HP Jetdirect – Socket
Address: echo.kcad.edu
Name: Echo
Print Using: Auto-select
After completing the necessary fields click the add button.

A window showing installable options will appear. Do not change the settings and click the continue button.
When the printer is successfully installed it will appear in the list of available printers. If you want to add another printer click the add icon and repeat the process with the appropriate printers’ information.
